

Acknowledgments

The DBM Knowledge Management and Fiscal Transparency Service (KMFTS) thanks:

Sec. Butch Abad, Usec. Janet Abuel, Usec. Clare Amador, Usec. Luz Cantor, Usec. Bon Moya, Usec. Laura Pascua, Usec. Mario Relampagos, ASec. Tina Canda, ASec. Amlet Castillo, ASec. Myrna Chua, ASec. Tanya Hamada, and ASec. Pia Yanto for their support, guidance, and encouragement throughout the budget reform documentation project

The heads of the bureaus, services, units, and regional offices of DBM for providing their insights, comments, and feedback on the drafts throughout the making of this publication; and their staff for assisting in validating the information presented. The KMFTS would want to name everyone who had contributed to this documentation in one way or another, and we apologize for the space constraints for not being able to do so. We hope that this documentation—including the insights and anecdotes that you relayed the project team—reflects your story: the story of those who are in the heart and center of the DBM's reform efforts

The DBM's partner-agencies in the Development Budget Coordination Committee (DOF, NEDA, OP, BSP) and the PFM Committee (COA, DOF, BTr) for their commitment to the pursuit of unprecedented PFM reforms.

Partners in civil society, the international community, and other stakeholders who supported the implementation of PFM reforms. In particular, the Australian DFAT, the World Bank, the IMF, the EU, the ADB, the USAID, and other development partners for their assistance in the roll out of key PFM reforms; and the Open Government Partnership and the Global Initiative for Fiscal Transparency for the necessary international support and demand for reform

Professor Rufo R. Mendoza who, in the earlier stages of the project, helped set the overall direction and strategy for the project, reviewed the team's early drafts and even wrote some of the drafts, and provided guidance and wisdom to the project team

The former staff of the KMFTS/KM TWG for helping us break ground by providing research, drafts, project management support, and other necessary inputs in the earlier stages of the project: Erika Mariel G. Mayoni, Alliage T. Morales, Ranel Ram C. Cheng, Jose Fernando A. Escalante, Mercelle Therese C. Matundan, and Jesus B. Guinto

The participants of the DBM Tibay Junior Leadership Development (JLD) Program for putting into writing their experiences in implementing budget reforms, their Writer-Coaches for their mentorship of the writes through the process, and the DBM Tibay JLD Project Team for efficiently coordinating between KMFTS and the JLD participants for various activities

Dan U. Matutina and Bernice de Leon-Yumul for their overall creative direction and artistic rendition of key reforms; and Adrienne V. Ponce for additional design and layout support

Adela Sta. Cruz-Espina for her continuous editorial support, patience, and valuable lessons on both writing and life

And everyone who has, in one way or another, contributed their time and effort to the success of this publication.
